Ocean Ave. To Be Open Two Weeks

Granite Construction Company will complete the storm drainage portion of the Ocean Avenue improvement project today, clean up tomorrow, and leave Ocean Avenue open and unencumbered for the heavy traffic of Easter week and the week following.

Clayton Neill, city engineer, told the Pine Cone this morning that the $60,000 drainage and street surfacing job is ahead of schedule. Surfacing will begin after Easter and should be completed by May 1, two weeks ahead of contract completion date.

The city street department crew has been repairing breaks and root damage in the concrete base on Ocean Avenue between Monte Verde and Junipero in preparation for surfacing by the contractor. The red barricades are the city's and should be out of the way in a day or so.

Neill, pleased with the speed with which the storm drainage portion of the job has progressed, spoke appreciatively of the "efficiency and co-operation of the contractor." (Continued on Page Sixteen)

4-Day Audubon Convention Opens At Asilomar Saturday

A major conservation address will be delivered by Carl W. Buchheister of New York, president of the National Audubon Society, at the Sunday night session of the tenth biennial Pacific Coast Audubon Convention, Saturday through Tuesday at Asilomar.

Mr. Buchheister, chief executive officer of the society, will discuss threats to the National Parks and wildlife reservations. He also will outline the principal goals of conservationists in Congress, including the establishment of new national seashore parks, passage of the wilderness bill, stronger water pollution control laws, and U.S. co-operation in an international program to prevent pollution of the seas by oil.

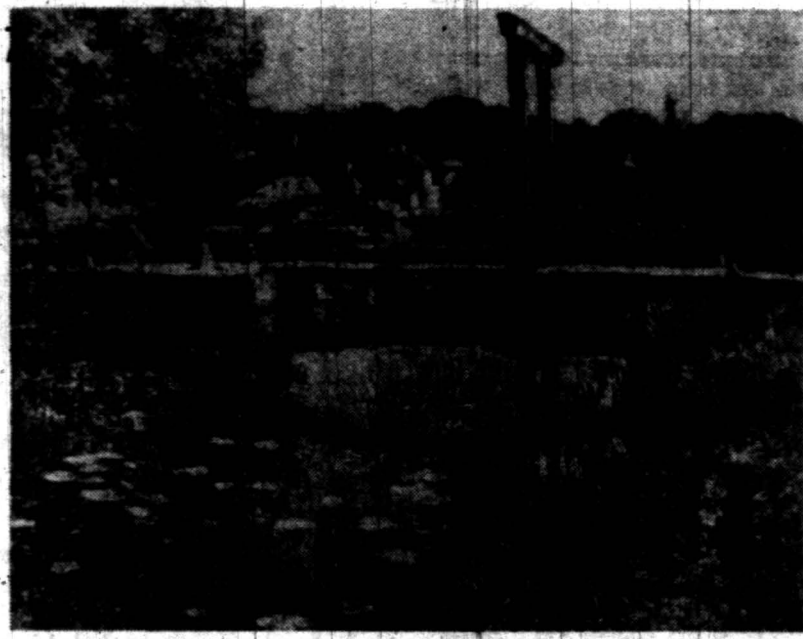

More than 600 delegates from local Audubon societies and other conservation groups in a dozen western states, among them Hawaii and Alaska, are expected to attend, according to William N. Goodall of Berkeley, western representative of the National Society.

Special attention will be given the natural resources and conservation problems of our two newest states, Mr. Goodall said. Discussions in daytime sessions Sunday and again Monday morning will be built on a "tundra to, tropics" theme with officials of Hawaii and Alaska taking part. All sessions are open to the public.

Dr. Olaus Murie of Moose, Wyoming, wilderness explorer, naturalist and author, will keynote the theme Saturday night with a speech entitled Two Frontiers.

The Buchheister address will open a dinner program Sunday night at which special entertainment will be provided by The College Singers of Monterey Peninsula College.

Mr. Buchheister has been president of the National Audubon Society. (Continued on Page A)

LANDSCAPE IN TOURAINE PAINTING BY A. G. WARSHAWSKY

"Paint Me A Little Younger, Please," Buck Warshawsky Tells Of The Joys Of Portraiture, Pains Of Exhibiting

By RAYLYN PENNEY

Some things a painter never quite becomes accustomed to, even a veteran painter like A. G. (Buck) Warshawsky. Public controversy over art. Seeing his own work on the walls of a gallery. And women who say, "Paint me a little younger, please."

About the first, Buck says no painter can please all of the people always and if he tries, he is no painter. One of the worst "pot-boilers" he himself ever painted was a landscape of golden gorse and purple ocean painted at St. Jean-du-Doigt, Brittany, and entered in an exhibition years ago in Cleveland, his home town.

The picture had been painted with the greatest integrity but the Warshawsky colors so famous in later times came to grips with the "dark-brown" school still popular then in America and critics howled. ("And how tame that gorse picture would be in an exhibition of modern art today!")

About having a show of his work, the painter says he simply never got used to that either. Nowhere does the great chasm between aspiration and accomplishment seem so obvious as on a gallery wall.

"I am faced with all those pictures and I think, 'but I meant to do this better' and then I'm a little sore because my work is on view and it's not quite as good as I think I could do if I had another chance."

As for the lady who seeks flattery in a portrait, she is well known by every portrait painter in the business and not one of them has been able to do anything for her, not if he wants to be able to look himself straight in the eye in the shaving mirror next day.

A portrait painter aims at a synthetic and mobile likeness, Buck has said, searching out and finding among the many moods of his sitter the characteristic and subtle moments when the lightning flicker of the camera misses.

With more than a half-century of painting behind him, Buck has done this many times over. However, his very substantial international reputation is based not on portraiture alone, but on the landscapes and still groups in museums and private collections on two continents.

Most recent honor of this type came to Buck several weeks ago when a group of citizens of Tacoma, where a Warshawsky show was held early this year, joined to purchase a canvas which will hang in the Washington State Historical Society Museum.

After having been decorated by the Legion of Honor in France during the thirties, Buck saw other paintings of his purchased by the French government for the Luxembourg Museum and the Petit Palais. In America his works are in permanent collections of the Corcoran Gallery of Washington, D.C., the Cleveland Museum of Art, Toledo Museum, Akron Art Institute, Minneapolis Art Institute, Conajahari Museum of American Painting in New York, Sweet Memorial Art Gallery in Portland, Maine, Brooks Memorial Art Gallery in Memphis, Los Angeles Museum of Art, San Diego Art Institute, the Legion of Honor and de (Continued on Page A)

Public Meeting To Hear Candidates For School Board

Carmel school district voters will be given an opportunity to hear five school board candidates define their educational objectives and reasons for running for election to the board of trustees of the Carmel Unified School District at a public meeting arranged by the American Association of University Women, according to Mrs. Everett Bibb, AAUW president. The candidates meeting will be held within the school district and present only Carmel district candidates, she adds.

Miss Mary Eleanor Henry, AAUW community service chairman, is in charge of arrangements. She is out of town at present but will announce the time, place and date of the meeting shortly, Mrs. Bibb promises.

Bids Asked For $90,000 Unit At Carmelo School

The Carmel Unified School District Board of Trustees called for bids today for an additional classroom building at the Carmelo Elementary School in Carmel Valley.

The new building, estimated cost $90,000, will contain four classrooms, be joined to the existing unit by a covered corridor and will have also corridors along the south exposure. Materials will be redwood and plaster.

It is planned that the building will be ready for occupancy when school starts in the fall.

Copies of plans and specifications may be obtained at the office of the architects for the project, Burde, Shaw and Kearns Associates, Monte Verde and Seventh. The board will open bids April 13 at 7:30 o'clock in the evening in the Music Building, Carmel High School.

Cost of the new Carmelo unit was planned for in the $2,000,000 bond issue passed last year. A $1,520,000 junior high school at the mouth of the Valley is in key plans. Bids will be invited in August, and it will be completed in 1962. Built on the cluster plan, it can be expanded from a 750 enrollment junior high school to a 1500 enrollment high school, and the junior high moved to the present high school. The bond issue does not provide for this expansion, which would cost another $1,500,000. Other items in the present bond issue include a site for a junior high and elementary school in the Tularcitos area, remodeling the south wing of Sunset School to provide for administration offices, and a bus garage.

Before the school board is a request for a $16,000 lecture hall for team teaching at the present high school; the board is considering a movable building that could serve at one of the elementary sites when the high school moves to the Valley site.

Rugby Tournament At High School This Week End

Plenty of swift rugby action is on tap at Carmel High's Bardarson Field this weekend when the annual Monterey Peninsula Rugby Tournament unfolds in Saturday and Sunday's action. With 21 teams entered in the tournament, the Carmel High turf will hardly have to cool off after the action starts at 9:30 Saturday morning. Big attraction for Peninsula fans will be the Stanford Indians who are anchored by Carmel's Kirk Reid and football star Skip Face. Defending champion is the San Francisco Olympic Club which is manned by former stars from California and Stanford.

Saturday's early games will be streamlined affairs of 20-minutes duration and will lead up to the regulation-length championship and consolation games on Sunday. Stanford will get its first taste of competition Saturday afternoon when it faces the strong University Club of Los Angeles at 12:30.

Bargain prices prevail for the fast and rugged action with Saturday's all-day ducat going for 75 cents and Sunday's finals ticketed for $1.

Two Carmel Girls Receive Awards At DAR Tea Tuesday

Awards were presented to two Carmel girls, Frances Hays and Sally Campbell, at a tea given Tuesday afternoon by the Daughters of the American Revolution in Monterey Public Library.

Frances, ten years old, and a student in the fifth grade at Woods School, taught by Stephen Whitney, was presented with the DAR history medal. Her essay on the Sacramento River won first place in a DAR essay contest on the theme Historic Waterways, conducted in all the upper elementary grades on the Peninsula.

She is the daughter of Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. James G. Hays Jr. The Hays family will leave Carmel shortly for Burma where Colonel Hays will be U. S. assistant military attaché in Rangoon.

The other award winner, Sally Campbell, is a senior at Carmel High School. She was presented with a DAR citizenship award.

Sally represented Carmel High School at Girls' State, sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, at the end of her junior year. She is a member of Carmel High Leaders Club, was student body secretary last semester and is a life member of the California Scholarship Federation. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell.

The mothers of both girls were also guests of the DAR at Tuesday's tea.

Planners Say No To Willard Neumann's Dwelling Motel

The planning commission refused another request of Willard Neumann yesterday afternoon for development of his Forest Lodge residence zone property in the triangular piece of land at the foot of the hill, enclosed by Ocean Avenue, Mountain View and Torres Streets.

Mr. Neumann's plans for a four-bedroom house, commissioners judged, were not in accordance with municipal code requirements for single family dwelling and they (Continued on Page Sixteen)

PADRE NINE BLANKS.
NORTH SALINAS, 5 TO 0

With pitchers Jim Brown, Forrest Cornwall, and Steve Johnson throwing in mid-season form, Carmel High's varsity baseball team upset the favored North Salinas Vikings, 5 to 0, Tuesday afternoon at the North Salinas diamond. Brown toiled two innings for the winners, giving up one hit, walking none, and striking out one Viking swinger. Cornwall took over for the third and fourth heats and pitched hitless ball while blanking the hosts. Freshman Steve Johnson went the last three frames, giving up two hits while striking out two and forcing five hitters to pop up to the infield.

Carmel got on the scoreboard in the first inning when Kent Olsen singled to right and was forced to third when Bob Little and Evan Peskin drew walks. Olsen tallied the winning run when a wild pitch escaped the Viking catcher. The Padres picked up two insurance markers in the fifth heat as Peskin and Lindy Mahrt put together back-to-back singles and were driven home by Rance Kastor's booming triple to right field. A little icing was added to the cake in the final inning when Bob Little and Bud Cunningham parlayed a double and a single into a pair of runs for the Red and Gray.

Three double plays highlighted the defensive play of the Padres and pulled them out of tough spots during the afternoon. A sparkling shoestring catch by centerfielder Kent Olsen was turned into a twin-killing when a Viking runner wandered too far off second-base after the catch. Bob Little and Evan Peskin manufactured a solid 5-4-3 double play in the third inning to wipe out a threatening North Salinas rally. A line-drive shot to shortstop Lindy Mahrt was turned into a DP when the nifty-fielding sophomore fired to first-base to beat a Viking runner returning to the bag.

Bob Little and Bud Cunningham each garnered two safe hits to lead the Carmel average hitters, but the big blow was Kastor's triple with two mates aboard. While the Padres were helping themselves to eight solid blows, the effective Red and Gray pitching staff was limiting the Vikings to three safeties and four free passes.

The Padres open their home season this Friday afternoon against the strong Monterey Treadadores and this one could be one of the best games of the season. The Treadadores clipped the Padres, 1 to 0, in the season-opener for both teams last week and the rematch should provide the same kind of competition. With all the neighboring schools on vacation next week, the Padres will devote their time to intrasquad games in preparation for the league-opener against Hollister on April 17.

Carmel's junior-varsity crew hosted the North Salinas jayvees last Tuesday afternoon and were administered a good 11-0 lesson. The Viking jayvees were too experienced for the freshman-laden Carmel gang and took advantage of all the breaks to run away from the Carmel lads.

WATSONVILLE SATURDAY

Coach Jim Agan takes his 30-man Carmel High swim squad to Watsonville this Saturday for a dual meet with the heavily-favored Watsonville Wildcats. The Padres' natators are overmatched against the strong Wildcats but figure to make the competition interesting in several events. Big splasher for the Red and Gray squad this season is Alan Nishimura, freshman speedster, who is the class of the league as an all-around swimmer. The transfer from the Hawaiian Islands is adept at all the strokes and has been flirting with all the league records.

In their first outing this season, the Carmel tankman finished fourth in the Watsonville Relays as they were outdistanced by Monterey, Salinas, and Watsonville. While the Wildcats appear to pack too much power for the Padres, they are in turn outclassed by the solid Monterey High aggregation. Monterey is deep in all events and has the first-place potential to be heavy favorites to top the CCAL title.

TRACK MEET AT GONZALES
THIS SATURDAY

Originally scheduled for the Carmel High oval but transferred to Gonzales because of the Rugby Tournament, this week's track action finds the Padres and Spartans opening league dual meet action. Coach Hadley Hicks' squad is primed for competition, having been rained out of two meets and deprived of interclass competition because of apathy on the part of the student body. With good strength in the middle distances, mile, and field events, this year's Padre squad isn't blessed with great speed but has good depth in most events and sure first places. # INSTANT INTEREST

Right from the moment of deposit, your savings start to earn interest. And with this new plan, they'll grow faster than ever!

Starting April 1, some happy new rules governing regular savings accounts go into effect at all offices of Crocker-Anglo National Bank. They mean your savings can go to work for you immediately, at any time. And under these new rules your savings will actually grow faster due to accelerated compound interest. Here's how our new "instant interest" system works:

1. Your savings earn interest every day. Savings deposits will earn interest from the date of deposit, computed on the daily balance of the account, provided that the account remains open at the end of the then current quarterly interest period.

2. You get a 10-day bonus period every month. Savings deposits received on or before the tenth calendar day of any month will earn interest from the first of that month.

3. You're paid more frequently. Interest will be paid or compounded quarterly, as of March 31, June 30, September 30 and December 31.

4. You get extra grace periods. During the last three business days of any quarter you may withdraw without loss of interest on the amount withdrawn.

Even small savings accounts benefit (balances of more than $25 will earn interest) and there is no maximum limit on the amount you may keep on deposit. Interest will continue to be paid at 3% per annum—highest rate permitted by Federal Reserve regulations. Save now!

Warren Edwards Wins Adult Flying Class At Kite Festival

Several hundred persons gathered at Carmel High School football field on Saturday afternoon to watch the annual Carmel Kite Festival. Fair winds and sparkling sunshine greeted the 93 contestants who included High School Principal Warren Edwards, prize winner in the 16 years and older flying class, and his son and daughter, Bill and Peggy, who won an award for the largest kite in the 8-11 year old class. Mrs. Edwards was among the audience of 300, "but she has great plans for next year," according to Mr. Edwards.

The Harold Heisel family was represented by two winners, Carol Heisel in the flying contest for 8-11 year old entrants, Paul Heisel in the similar contest for 12-15 year old kite flyers. The Wythe family had winners in two classes, also.

Wilfred Fekeci and Louise Litts were double winners in the seven years and younger division.

The Willis F. White best international kite prize was won by Tina Benedict. Her kite was hand-decorated with flags of many nations.

The best-flying kite was Mike Baum's newspaper creation, constructed in such fine balance it needed no tail.

Following are the first and second place winners in younger classes, first place winners in older classes: Seven years and younger, flying, Wilfred Fekeci, Louise Litts; prettiest, Wilfred Fekeci, Louise Litts; largest, John Bradley, Stanley Shepherd.

Eight to 11 years old: flying, Carol Heisel, Tom Aldrich; prettiest, Donna Woods, Anthony Tersol; largest, Peggy and Bill Edwards, Julie Eagleton.

Twelve to 15 years: flying, Paul Heisel; prettiest, Romi Wythe; largest, Davin Risdon.

Sixteen years and older: Warren Edwards, flying; Stan Wythe, prettiest; Tom Bradley, largest.

All kites were made by the entrants.

Co-chairmen for the festival were Vincent A. Torras and Milton W. Stitt, members of the Carmel Lions Club, sponsors of the event with the recreation department of the Carmel Unified School District.

Tevya's Daughters Beginning Tomorrow At Circle Theatre

The cast of Tevya and his Daughters, which opens tomorrow at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre, includes four members of the same family—a record in recent years, according to director Frederick Rider, who plays one of the roles himself. The family, represented in its entirety, is that of Lt. Col. Allan Weinfield, a Fort Ord officer who recently took up residence in the Monte Vista section of Monterey. Colonel Weinfield and his wife, Zelma, have been active in little theatre at Ord, where she directs the Studio Players, and both were charter members of the Monterey Peninsula Community Theatre.

Weinfield plays the title role in Sholem Aleichem's tale of a mild-mannered dairyman living in Russia at the turn of the century. His wife and two daughters, Roselle and Lesly, bear the same relationships to him in the play. "The remaining five daughters in Tevya's household will be played by Bunny Appleby (the much-applauded Helen Gant in Look Homeward, Angel), Tina Dinkin, Michele Buhler, Linda Zanides and Nicolette Buhler. Tina, who is now at Carmel High School, has been seen before both at the Circle and at the Studio Theatre, and Michele and Nicolette were among the royal children of Siam in The King and I, but Tevya will be a stage debut for sixth-grader Linda Zanides, daughter of the Circle's business manager, Nick Zanides.

Sam Karas, last seen at the Golden Bough in The Happiest Millionaire, will have a featured role as the middle-aged, widowed butcher who tries to buy his way into a marriage with Tevya's eldest daughter. Mike Rahm plays the penniless but plucky young tailor whom she prefers to marry. Beth Zanides, Mildred Cushing and Rolland Pilon play double roles, contributing a total of six vignettes of the Russian peasantry among whom the story unfolds.

Tevya and his Daughters will be offered every Friday, Saturday and Sunday evening for the next six weeks.

Mrs. Eudora M. Holcomb, 90 years old, died on Sunday in her home at Fourth Avenue and Randall Way in Hatton Fields after a lengthy illness.

She came to live in Carmel 21 years ago with her husband, the late Eugene Holcomb, whose death occurred on November 25, 1958.

Two sons survive her. They are Frederick M. Holcomb of Washington, D.C., and Harold T. Holcomb of Alexandria, Virginia. Mrs. Holcomb also leaves two grandchildren, Mrs. Ann Everett of San Rafael and Frederick M. Holcomb Jr. of Seattle, Washington.

Private funeral services, conducted by Dr. Joseph M. Ewing of the Carmel Presbyterian Church, were held yesterday afternoon in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea.

Dr. Albert Braly

Albert Clifford Braly, D.D.S., died in a local rest home on Sunday after a long illness. He came to live in Carmel 14 years ago from Hawaii where he was director of the Honolulu Dental Infirmary from 1921 until his retirement in 1947. His home was at Casanova Street and Tenth Avenue.

Dr. Braly was born in Lewisburg, Tennessee, on November 18, 1882. He received his education at Webb's Preparatory School in Bell Buckle, Tennessee, George Peabody Normal and Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tennessee, and obtained his D.D.S. degree in 1908 from the latter institution.

Following graduation, he was an assistant professor of prosthetic dentistry and instructor in operative and prosthetic techniques at Vanderbilt from 1908-1915. In 1916 Dr. Braly went to Hawaii where he specialized in the practice of orthodontia until 1921 when he was asked to be the director of the Honolulu Dental Infirmary.

The infirmary, endowed by Mrs. George R. Carter in honor of her father, was organized by Dr. Braly as a preventive dental institution for the children of Hawaii. He established a clinic with five full-time dentists and a school for dental hygienists to assist this project. On December 7, 1904, he was married to Katherine Davis of Franklin, Tennessee.

His affiliations included membership in Honolulu Lodge 409, F. & A.M., the National and Tennessee Dental Associations, the Nashville Society of Stomatology, the Dental Society, Rotary, Mid-Pacific and Oahu Country clubs of Hawaii.

Survivors, in addition to his wife in Carmel, include a daughter, Mrs. W. M. Gaston of Sao Paulo, Brazil; a son, Walker Davis Braly of Carmel; two brothers, Dr. George Braly of Honolulu and Harold Braly of Los Angeles; and two grandchildren, Pryor M. Lorraine of New Jersey and George C. Gaston of Brazil.

Dr. Joseph M. Ewing, pastor of the Carmel Presbyterian Church, officiated at funeral services for Dr. Braly yesterday afternoon in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea.

CHOSEN FOR CONCERT

Three Carmel High School students, Jim Pruitt, Lee Puryear and Diana Farr have been chosen to take part in the concert closing the three-day Far Western Convention of the Music Educators of the United States in Santa Monica next week.

They will accompany High School music instructor John Farr and Mrs. Farr south on Saturday, then, Sunday through Wednesday, practice for the concert on Wednesday evening. Jim and Lee will sing in a 500-voice chorus with students from Hawaii, California, Nevada, Arizona and Utah. Diana will join a band of 150 players from the five western states.

Each high school in the five states was asked to submit names for the chorus and band. Jim, Lee and Diana were chosen from a list sent in by the Carmel High School music department.

Georgette Nevius

Mrs. Georgette Genslin Nevius, a Carmel resident since 1950, died unexpectedly on Tuesday morning in her home on Camino Real near Ocean Avenue. She had been under a physician's care for some time.

Mrs. Nevius was born in Paris on July 9, 1891. She came from France to the United States during her childhood and grew up in Oakland. Her marriage to Searle B. Nevius took place on May 24, 1911, in Oakland.

Mrs. Nevius and her husband were both members of the National Association of Retired Civil Employees. They would have celebrated their golden wedding anniversary two months from tomorrow.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two sons, Searle G. Nevius of Playa del Rey and Gerald M. Nevius of North Hollywood; and two granddaughters, Valerie and Cynthia Nell Nevius of North Hollywood.

Funeral services were held this afternoon in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea. Burial will be in the family plot in Mountain View Cemetery, Oakland.

Friends wishing to honor the memory of Mrs. Nevius may do so in the form of donations to the Monterey County Heart Association, Box 1329, Monterey.

Music On The Peninsula

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

At the Robert Louis Stevenson School in Pebble Beach Sunday evening The Mills Chamber Players, a charming trio from Mills College, presented a program of Weber, Couperin, Mozart and Milhaud to an audience of the 175 boys interspersed with local music lovers. Walter Rubin, violinist, Morton Subotnich, clarinetist and Naomi Sparrow, pianist, of the Mills Music Department, which is noted for its high musical standard, pleased so definitely that insistent recalls resulted in several encores. The combination of clarinet and piano in the Weber Duo Concerto's three movements was brilliantly played though the pianist somewhat dominated too much in the first, but in the second the clarinetist's tone and flexibility were clear, sympathetic and sparkling. Couperin's seven movements of The Apotheosis of Corelli brought forward the violinist leader, who, like the late DePachman, amused with funny pertinent remarks and even convulsed his fellow musicians. The Mozart graceful sonata in C Major was well handled, while the Milhaud Suite for Violin, Clarinet and Piano was an interesting example of this modern composer who comes from France every summer to teach composition at Mills. Headmaster Ricklefs, who addressed the audience, is to be congratulated on bringing the best kind of music to the school.

On Monday the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra presented the season's final concert of King City Community Concert Association Series in the same program (without the Faure number) that was performed last week in Carmel and Salinas, with Ira Lehn as cello soloist. Having been present, it is only fair to report that in the King City auditorium much was heard to greater advantage owing to better acoustics and spaciousness of the building. Attendance was about 500, half of whom were children who were all enthusiastic, though of course applauded where they should have refrained. But it all goes to show the wonderfully increasing interest in the best music, even in the smallest American cities, and this is probably but the first of engagements for the Monterey Orchestra in surrounding cities. The Carmel programs were distributed as well as one printed by Community Association

Inc. (probably the S.F. office) with whole copy of known works on the compositions without quotation marks or origin, which is hardly 'cricket'!

On Wednesday, Friday and Saturday of next week, the Bach St. Matthew Passion is being given with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra. James Schwabacher and Nan Merriman, two of our favorite soloists in the Carmel Bach Festival, are the chosen soloists, with Dorothy Warenskjold and Yi-kwei.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

One of the books with a large review in one of the San Francisco papers for Sunday last was Living Fishes of the World by Earl Herald of the California Academy of Science. Most of us have seen him in his Science in Action programs on television. The programs are most interesting and Dr. Herald is brilliant but never pretentious. The photographs which illustrate his book are beautiful and fantastic, and each one carries the credit along with the caption. It seems like a much better thing than adding a list of credits at the back of the book as is so often done. This is a notable addition to the field of ichthyology.

The next book is one we believe should be called to your attention although it will be of value to a relatively small audience because it is on electronic computers. It seems that computers work on two principles, the octal and the binary. The jacket blurb says that first you learn about positive and negative exponents and coefficients. You teach yourself the octal and binary number system and then you are ready to meet a computer on its home grounds, or something to that effect. You do it, I got lost several sentences back. The book was written by Norman Crowder and it is a textbook entitled The Arithmetic of Computers. Whew!

The old battle between science and religion is the basis of a compilation of articles edited by Harlow Shapley and entitled Science Ponders Religion. It seems that science is coming closer to embodying religion in its findings and conclusions. The various authors are all learned men and established scientists. One thing about a book of this kind, you may read all of it or just the sections which particularly interest you.

The Health Hucksters by Ralph Lee Smith has had a lot of publicity so you are perhaps aware of the book's contents. It has to do with the misleading advertising about what used to be called patent medicines and of certain foods. The extravagant claims, the money poured into advertising, the sometimes disastrous results on the believing purchasers! Anyone who ever turns on a radio receiver or a television set must be fed up to here with advertising and sick unto death of the oft-repeated slogans. Read The Health Hucksters and learn a little more about what to avoid and what to do when you feel yourself slipping into believing this propaganda.

Two artists of a few years ago who can still bring a smile of remembrance are Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy. A joint biography of them by John McCabe is called Mr. Laurel and Mr. Hardy. Who among us knew that Stan Laurel started his career in an act with Charlie Chaplin which was going great in England until Chaplin decided to come to the United States; that Laurel followed him to this country, and here began a career with Oliver Hardy which lasted for twenty years? Their films are still funny. They are more than that. They are lunatic and delightful. Ah, those were really the good old days, and this is a good book about them.

We have Francis Parkinson Keyes autobiography entitled Roses in December, and more non-fiction and several new novels. Come and get 'em!

MARSH FROM A TRAIN WINDOW

*The delicate curtain of the fog arose
Above the footlights of the morning scene
With slow impressive motion, to disclose
A landscape horizontal, and serene.
The marsh lay bronze and purple in the light
With mirrored lakes no larger than a hand
And shafts of shaking grass, encrusted bright
Gleaming like silver laughter in the land.*

*No weaver of the Orient could choose
More subtlety of shade for his design—
The smouldering reds, the grape-dark dusty hues
Asked but an accent for a scheme too fine—
When suddenly winged, a snow-white heron rose
Trailing oblique the pure and perfect line!*

SONG OF THE STARS

*At the door to the east, in the star-magnificent evening
Caught by the sudden glory of earth and the heavens about it,
Startled and shaken, as coming unwarned upon wonder Praise was a leap of the heart and a light upon rivers of darkness.*

*Under the pine-trees the long white streamers of starlight Piercing the boughs with a fire too chilly for burning
Touched the pale grass with their slender sidereal fingers, Changing to silver and silence the green of the day and the clamour.*

*Out in the field, in the open, the whole of the heavens
Hushed for an instant, awaiting the moment of moonrise,
United in chorus, not singing but ringing with music Transcendent and high beyond sound to the ears of the hearer.*

*Night after night in the infinite caverns of darkness
The silent procession of stars over mountains and cities
Sheds on an unheeding world its uncountable splendours.
Calling the spirit in language too great to be heard.*

THE NEW LEAVES

*Singing they came —
And garmented in green;
Clothed from within with lineaments of flame—
In a slow dance they issued from the node Andante—
Pacing the moments in a rhythm of time
Too gentle for the eye —
Too silent for the ear —
A winged dance
Speeding through space with the inexorable
Motion of beauty —
Informed from the cell
Slow, slow, to the sight moveless —
Yet swift in a new modality of time.*

Warshawsky Tells Of Portraiture Painting,
Pains Of Exhibiting

Young museums in San Francisco, Maryhill Art Museum in Washington, the Frye Art Museum in Seattle, and in other collections too space-consuming to list.

Buck has spent more than thirty years painting the quays, the street scenes, the people of Paris, and friends who know both men have said there is perhaps no other living person with the kind of understanding of the city Warshawsky has except Maurice Chevalier.

Brittany has been his home on occasion also and his studies of Breton peasants are, after 25 years, still unmatched by other painters of the picturesque coast.

It was because of his love for that scrap of French countryside with its wild, stormy shores and population of fishermen that Warshawsky happened to remain on the Monterey Peninsula since two decades ago when he first saw it and was reminded of Brittany. Even his Monterey studio was designed by him to look like a Breton cottage.

Now, having distinguished himself still further by passing the three-quarter century mark as figured by accumulating birthdays, Buck paints every day, a habit he's had a long time now. (Yes, every day. He once said, "How foolish it would be for me to take Sundays and holidays off. I work seven days a week and every day is a holiday.")

Like many another serious member of his profession, Buck tends to shun the word "artist" applied to himself and prefer "painter." He accepts the sobriquet "Buck" which is applied to him by a wide circle of friends and acquaintances, young and not-so-young, but prefers to soft-pedal its origin.

(For years he was an amateur boxer and boxing instructor, even had some offers to become a professional which he seriously considered. He paid some of his Paris rent by giving boxing lessons in the lean days. "Buck" was his ring name.)

The painter and his wife, Ruth, whose name is almost synonymous on the Peninsula with the word "theater," still live in the Breton home in Monterey in the Monte Vista neighborhood. Ruth is perhaps best remembered for performances in Medea, The Matchmaker and The Visit.

For lovers of painting who have yet to see and appreciate Warshawsky canvasses from both former and recent years, and for those who would like to renew their acquaintance with them, a new Warshawsky show will open next Monday (March 27) at the Laky Galleries, San Carlos and Sixth.

Off To Settle In Tasmania

Victor Ruskell, former owner of Castle Coolmain, near Cork, Ireland, ended a second visit in Carmel with the family of his brother, Speirs Ruskell, on Sunday when he sailed from San Francisco for Tahiti, New Zealand and Tasmania.

He plans to buy a farm in the latter place, having sold his home and cattle farm in Ireland. Since then he has traveled in Europe, and, since his visit here last summer, been to Canada, Kentucky, South Carolina, Florida, Texas and the Grand Canyon. In Texas he visited the King Ranch.

Mr. Ruskell is settling in Tasmania after "throwing in the towel as far as farming in Ireland is concerned." He maintains that the failure of Irish farmers to comply with Britain's demand for tuberculosis testing of cows has curtailed cattle raising in his native land by eliminating the main market, England.

Arena Blanca Poets Receive Gift

A gift in memory of Hans Wolff, a German poet, highlighted the March 15 meeting of the Arena Blanca Chapter of Chaparral Poets. Alma Anderson, secretary-treasurer and hostess for the meeting, announced receipt of a generous check from Mrs. Wolff, given as an expression of appreciation of what membership in the group had meant to her husband. The money will be kept in a special memorial fund to be used for the encouragement and advancement of poetry.

In Arena Blanca's February contest for love poems, first place went to Hascal Stewart, second to Blanche Moke, third to Catherine Ramsey, and honorable mention to Bernice Minarik.

March contest entries of humorous light verse were read by Robert Bunney, Mrs. Stewart, Arthur Wild, Mary Greenwood, Jerry Wild, Lois Wilson and Mrs. Moke. Awards will be announced at the April 19 meeting, to be held at the Wild's home in Carmel.

Olivia Young, president, appointed a nominating committee of Mrs. Ramsey, chairman, Mr. Wild and Mrs. Wilson. Mrs. Moke will serve as contest chairman for the final awards. The arrangements committee for the annual May meeting will consist of Mrs. Ramsey, chairman, Mrs. Wild and Mrs. Stewart.

Mrs. Minarik reviewed Elizabeth Shepley Sergeant's biography of Robert Frost. Mrs. Greenwood assisted Miss Anderson on the tea committee.

Gilberts To Jet East

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Gilbert leave Carmel Tuesday for San Francisco airport where they will spend the night, then, on Wednesday, take a jet flight to New York.

They will remain in the East for the month of April and plan visits with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace L. Quimby, their granddaughter, Elisabeth Quimby, and Mrs. Gilbert's mother, Mrs. W. O. Wiley.

While Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert are in New York their home in the Eighty Acres will be occupied by Dr. and Mrs. George Johnson of San Francisco.

International BPWC Program

Tuesday night, members of the Carmel Business and Professional Women's Club held their international relations dinner at the Army Language School Officers Club. Mrs. P. C. Lee, international relations chairman, arranged the program.

Speaker of the evening was Colonel James L. Collins, commandant of the Army Language School. He discussed The Influence of Language in Our International Relations.

Dr. P. C. Lee, head of the ALS Chinese Mandarin department, also a musicologist, directed the Mandarin Chorus in four Chinese songs which he had arranged in Western notation. These were a Soldiers Chorus from the period of the Sung dynasty; a Chinese lullaby with Dr. Lee interpreting the lyrics which tell how to teach a baby to play a purple flute; a Buddhist chant in Oriental rhythm; and Song of Victory, composed by Dr. Lee in honor of Chinese Nationalist victories.

Woman's Club Talk On Furniture

Jean Abel, a local decorator, will discuss Furniture Trends at a garden section meeting of the Carmel Woman's Club on Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. Mrs. Henry Hansen, chairman of this section, has arranged for the talk on changes of furniture styles in the last 30 years as affected by English Regency, French Directoire and Italian Pastiche styles.

Mr. Abel is a graduate of San Francisco State College, the California School of Fine Arts and Harvard University School of Design. He has extended his field to include landscaping and contributed to the development of homes in the lake district of Montana. He will illustrate his talk by showing fabrics, wallpaper and typical furniture.

Mrs. C. Tod Singleton, president, will preside. Mrs. Wallace Lowry will receive, assisted by Mrs. Fred Farley and Mrs. Roy Conant. Mrs. Carl E. Rasmussen's tea committee will include Mrs. Frank Wilkinson, Mrs. Walter Johnson, Mrs. Ross Hoffman and Mrs. Walter Stevens. Mrs. Manuel Wasserman and Miss Edna Browning will preside at the tea tables. Mrs. William Eklund will be in charge of flower arrangements.

Dance Program At Town House

Renee Wurzmahn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Wurzmahn, will present a program of ballet solos at Carmel Foundation Town House on Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock.

Miss Wurzmahn started her ballet career with the Nix studio in Carmel, danced with the Monterey Civic Ballet, the San Francisco Ballet, the American School of Dance in Hollywood, the Brooklyn Civic Ballet, and the Metropolitan Opera Ballet.

The program will be followed by tea. Town House is between Eighth and Ninth Avenues on Lincoln Street.

Linda Lee On Stephens Team

Cecil "Pop" Smith is proud of his granddaughter, Linda Lee Kaftan, who has been selected as a member of the Stephens College debate team by the speech faculty at the Columbia, Missouri school. The team debated in the Missouri State Speech Tournament this month. Linda Lee will also represent France in a mock United Nations session and gave a talk recently in Burrell Hall at Stephens. She is in her second year at the school and was a Los Angeles debutante during her freshman year. Her parents are Dr. and Mrs. Ludwig Kaftan.

Mitchells Settled In Princeton

Mrs. Dexter Whitcomb, back from a visit in Princeton, New Jersey, with her former Carmel neighbors Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Mitchell, reports that the Mitchells and their four sons, Jim, Curt, Scott and Peter, now are happily settled in the East. They moved to New Jersey in September and arrived at their new home just in time for last fall's hurricane and further complications of finding painters still in the house and the road on which their new house is located a morass of mud. Then came this winter's heavy snows and extreme cold, after they had been told Princeton winters were mild.

Mrs. Whitcomb flew by jet both to and from the East. On the return trip her daughter, Jana Miles, was stewardess on the plane she took from Philadelphia to Chicago. She stayed in the latter city with Jana for a few days before continuing West.

Her son, Jim Miles, a sophomore cadet at Brown Military Academy in Glendora, will not be home for Easter vacation, but will spend his spring holiday visiting a school friend in Las Vegas.

Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Scott Matthews celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday at a party held in the home of Mrs. Willard Wall Wheeler of Pebble Beach. Mrs. Bradley Benedict of Lynden, Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Matthews' daughter, also Virginia Streeton and Phyllis Mallek were in charge of the charming arrangements for the event. Many friends came during the afternoon to congratulate the guests of honor. Mrs. Wheeler's home was built by the late Carmel architect Hugh Comstock, Mrs. Matthews' brother.

Mrs. Matthews is the former Cornelia Comstock of Evanston, Illinois, and Santa Rosa, California. Her marriage to Mr. Matthews took place on March 18, 1911, in the latter city. Her sister Catherine, now Mrs. George Seidenack of Carmel Valley, was her maid of honor. Her brother, Judge Hilliard Comstock of Santa Rosa, gave her in marriage. Raymond Matthew, brother of Mr. Matthews, was best man. Dr. W. S. Matthew, Mr. Matthews' father, at that time pastor of the First Methodist Church of Boise, Idaho, officiated at the wedding service.

From 1917 until 1949, Mr. and Mrs. Matthews lived in San Jose where Mr. Matthews was a civil engineer. He was Deputy County Assessor for Santa Clara County for 12 years of this time. Following his retirement in 1949, he and Mrs. Matthews moved to Carmel, making their home on Torres Street near Eighth Avenue.

Mrs. Matthews is a member of a family of seven. In addition to her brothers and sister already mentioned, she is the sister of Dr. John Adams Comstock of Del Mar, George Frank Comstock of Mill Valley and the late Hurd White Comstock of Carmel.

Mr. Matthews was one of twelve children. He is the brother of the late Mrs. George Gleason, during her lifetime an International Y.M.C.A. secretary. Mrs. Philip B. Hackley, Berkeley; Mrs. Henry C. Marcus, San Francisco; Mrs. Gerald Van Bergen, secretary of the Palo Alto division of the American Red Cross; and Mrs. Warren Norton of Woodlawn. His brothers are Allen Pomeroy, Matthew of Berkeley, the late Melville Matthew of The Dalles, Oregon, Raymond Matthew of Los Angeles, John B. Matthew of Sacramento, S. Hurd Matthew of Berkeley and Theodore Matthew of San Luis Obispo.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthews' son, Raymond Hilliard Matthew, lives in Palo Alto. Their grandchildren are Kenneth and Susie Matthew and Janice and Bill Lee Benedict.

Fly Simulated Eight Miles Up

Cadet Peter Wilcox of Carmel, a student at the University of Southern California, is one of 23 cadets of the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps at USC who have "flown" to a simulated altitude of more than eight miles. The cadets took this training in an altitude chamber at George Air Force Base, Victorville.

If the cadets had been in a plane they would have passed through 86 percent of the earth's atmosphere to reach this height.

To Intern In Minnesota

Dolphe S. Feldman, son of Mrs. A. S. Clark of Carmel, has been appointed to serve his medical internship at the University of Minnesota Hospitals in Minneapolis starting July 1.

Feldman, a senior at Baylor University College of Medicine in Houston, Texas, will be graduated with an M.D. degree in ceremonies to be held June 27.

As an intern at the University of Minnesota Hospitals, he will begin to concentrate in the clinical specialty of surgery for one year, and then go on to his residency training. Feldman is a member of Phi Chi medical fraternity.

Dog Show Set For May 28

Mrs. Derek Rayne is show chairman for the thirty-sixth annual Del Monte Dog Show to be held this year on May 28 at Del Monte Lodge under the sponsorship of the Del Monte Kennel Club.

Last year the local show ranked eighth in size in the nation with 1,363 dogs competing.

Officers of the Del Monte Kennel Club are James Crawford, president; Colonel Bruce Hanger, vice president; Henry Tiedemann, treasurer; Mrs. J. G. Ansel, recording secretary; and Mrs. Rayne, secretary.

Home Again At Big Sur

Emile Norman and Brooks Clement are back in their studio home at Big Sur after several months of traveling around the world with stays in Scandinavia, Italy and the Orient. Immediately before their departure last fall, Mr. Norman had a one-man exhibition of his wood mosaic sculptures in New York, the same pieces that he showed at an invitational preview at his home last year.

He promises that work he has created on his travels also will be shown here before being sent East for exhibition.

Emile Norman created the endomosaic screens which have gained wide recognition in the art world, then turned his talents to sculpture and developed a painstaking medium of mosaic overlay with small variously-shaped segments of different woods. He is assisted in the execution of his creative expression by Brooks Clement.

LANGUAGE TRAINING

Our congressman, Charles M. Teague, has asked Brooks Hays, Assistant Secretary of State for Congressional Relations, to assist in securing the use of the Monterey Presidio Army Language School for language training in the new Peace Corps Project. In a letter to Mr. Hays, Mr. Teague said: "I know from close observation that in the course of six to nine months' highly concentrated instruction, the school turns out graduates with a good, practical, working knowledge of almost all languages, including the most difficult."

Would this proposal of Mr. Teague be a sneaky Republican move to thin out the ranks of (as it appears to us) the highly dubious Peace Corps?

Ocean Avenue To Be Open For Two Weeks

tors; "they have plenty of good equipment and skilled workers."

Trenching Ocean Avenue was difficult, Neill said, because of the water and gas pipes and television cables. Over 2400 feet of trenching, pipe laying and compacting has been completed in 12 working days, and at no time was more than two blocks on one side of Ocean Avenue closed, he pointed out.

Neill said that the Ocean Avenue merchants have accepted the disturbance cheerfully. "There was little dust; nobody had to put up with the noise in front of his place more than a day; they could see the work was getting done quickly; and realize what an improvement it will be."

One note of regret: The contractors had to take down the flower box on Comstock Associates' construction shack in front of the Doud building to get the trencher by, "but they'll put it back," Neill assured the Pine Cone.

their candidacy for election to the Carmel Unified School District board of trustees on Friday, last day for filing. They are Mrs. John E. Taylor of Carmel Valley and Arthur Templeman of Carmel.

There are now five candidates for two vacancies on the board created by the expiring terms of Ted Fehring and George V. Yates.

Dr. Robert E. Newton, Laurence P. Horan and Clayton Neill, Jr. announced their candidacies prior to Friday. The election will be held on April 18.

Mr. Templeman, a retired grocer now employed in the maintenance department of the Monterey school system, has lived in Carmel for 22 years. He and Mrs. Templeman have three children, all graduates of Sunset School and Carmel High School. Their two sons, Arthur and Richard, both graduated from Monterey Peninsula College, and their daughter, Carol, now Mrs. William Morgan Barofsky of Walnut Creek, attended MPC for one year. Arthur is a teacher in Clarksburg, and Richard, a Carmel resident, is employed in the grocery store at Big Sur State Park.

Mr. Templeman states that his reason for running is that he has always been very happy with education provided in Carmel schools. He wants "to keep the schools as good as they are and improve them if necessary." He adds that he has always been interested in the school system but while in the grocery business, which meant working during the evening most days of the week for 18 years, he did not have sufficient time to run for the board. He realizes the demands for education which lie ahead, he says, and the problems of maintaining the quality of the Carmel schools, either with suggested federal aid or by district support only.

Mrs. John E. Taylor, who also filed for election to the school board on Friday, has a doctor's degree in psychology from the State University of Iowa. She is married to an experimental psychologist with the Human Resources Research Office unit of George Washington University at the Presidio of Monterey. She was with an HRRO unit at Fort Benning for four years doing research in Army training methods. She resigned from this work to bring up her family of two children, Jenny, now three years old, and Jeff, one.

Mrs. Taylor obtained a bachelor's degree from Penn State in physical education and taught in the physical education department of Bowling Green State University in Ohio for two years while completing work for a master's degree in psychology. She then spent three years in Iowa preparing for her doctorate in psychology. Following this she was associated with HRRO at Fort Benning.

She states, as a resident in this community which is concerned with educational welfare and examination of issues and contemporary trends, she hopes to work

Planners Say No To Willard Neumann's Dwelling Motel

denied him a building permit.

Previously, Mr. Neumann asked the commission to rezone his property in the residence zone for apartment development. The commission denied this request. Mr. Neumann appealed the decision to the city council. The council held the planning commission denial.

Commissioner Fred Keeble stated, "This plan has four individual rooms, four individual toilets and showers and is similar in design to motels considered by the commission. I have never seen a family residence so constructed."

Commissioners approved signs for Telly-Ho Inn and the M. De Neale Morgan Studios; approved floodlighting for the Purity Store parking lot for safety and decorative purposes.

They adjourned until next Wednesday afternoon, 4:00 o'clock, to decide on rezoning of the city's public land and other plans for High Meadows subdivision.

The areas proposed by the commission for C-1-L zoning are adjacent to main entrances and exits to the business district also areas partially or entirely surrounded by residences. Commissioners decided the latter areas should be protected from intensive commercial development which might oppress or endanger residential uses.

Suggested for C-1-L zone are: all of the block at the foot of the hill enclosed by Ocean Avenue, Junipero, Sixth and Torres; all of the block enclosed by Dolores, Fourth, San Carlos and Third; eight and one-half lots in the north part of the block fronting on San Carlos, Camino Del Monte, Mission Street and Third; nine lots in the north of the next block fronting with the school system. Her interest in the learning process in general, as well as her interest in the schools as a mother, have lead her to announce her candidacy, she says.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone.
